Program of Study Agreement for Articulation

Early Childhood Education

Safe Healthy Learning Environments (ECED 2010)

Articulation is a term that follows the SACS’ idea that equivalent learning outcomes may be gained by high school students attaining competency through one or more secondary courses to meet Northeast State course requirements. High school students will receive college-level credit for the equivalent learning outcomes through direct transcription as defined by Northeast State Community College, which validates the credit upon enrollment of students at Northeast State. Based upon a written and published process, students are eligible to receive postsecondary credit for up to two years beyond high school graduation.

The instructors and staff at __________________________ High School hereby agree to the Program of Study requirements for articulation credit in ECED 2010 with Northeast State Community College.

The high school agrees to teach students to the course competencies as developed by Northeast State. Students that successfully meet the Program of Study requirements will be awarded 3 credit hours of college level credit at Northeast State upon enrollment within two years of graduation from high school. This agreement will be in effect for three years from the agreement signature date.

The High School course title(s) with SDE course numbers listed below are being taught to meet the Program of Study requirements for ECED 2010.
